Sisters of St. Martha Address K. of C. Meeting

The need for young men and women to dedicate their lives as Clergy, Brothers and Sisters in Religion was strongly emphasized by Sister Leo Agnes of St. Alphonsus Convent in Blairmore.

Sister Leo Agnes, accompanied by Sister Dorothy Louise, were the guests of St. Joseph the Worker Council, Knights of Columbus and gave an interesting talk on the work and lives of the Sisters.

The Sisters of St. Martha opened the Blairmore Convent over 25 years ago on the invitation of the late Fathers O'Day and Dunbar, and of Rev. Harrington, who is now Bishop of Kamloops.

The Order was established in Antigonish, Nova Scotia, over 60 years ago. It now has over 400 members and is engaged in teaching, operating hospitals, orphanages, social services, schools for the aged and is now preparing to send Mission Sisters to Latin and South America. To emphasize and illustrate the address, the Sisters showed a large number of colored slides showing the training of novices and the work they perform across Canada as well as a review of the lives of the Sisters.

The guests, who were invited by Lecturer Rev. Dean P. Tessier, and introduced by Rev. S. Henke, were commended for their excellent talk and program.

During the business session it was announced that the provincial convention of the Knights is to be held in Calgary on May 28, 29 and 30.

Delegates from the local Council will be Grand Knight John Binda and Treasurer John Sikora.

Chief project of the provincial body in the past two years is complete restoration and enlargement of the library. St. Joseph College on the University campus in Edmonton. This project will be on the agenda for the annual convention.

Reports given by John Albizzati and Henry Spatuk indicated that the Easter party had been very successful and it was decided this should become an annual event for the Knights, their wives and their friends.

Fish & Game Group Hold Meeting

President of the Coleman Fish and Game Association, Dante Filaflo, reported at the monthly meeting May 3rd, that the projects committee have so far been unable to visit any of the proposed sites for the construction of a dam by the club this year.

Trips to the various sites in mind have had to be postponed due to the heavy snows in the mountains around the Crows Nest Pass.

Some of the areas that have been suggested as possible sites for a dam site are the P. Burns Creek north west of Blairmore, besides other creeks north and south of Blairmore. The York and Star Creek districts, south west of Coleman have also been suggested.

When the committee, headed by Orazio Celli visit and select one of the sites, the Blairmore Forestry offices will be contacted for their suggestions and recommendations. The Forestry have indicated their interest in this program.

The Coleman Association were responsible for the building of the Allison Creek dam which has now been developed into an ideal picnic and camping grounds as well as an ideal fishing area. This site is just a few miles north west of Coleman.

Members are to be contacted and urged to attend the Association meeting as many important projects are lined up for the season. Meetings are held in the Coleman Legion the first Tuesday of each month.

Mine Locomotives Are Recovered

Two diesel mine locomotives, that have been buried under tons of muck and rubble in the main entry of the Coleman Collieries Viceroy Creek Mine were towed out of the mine last week.

The crews began working under the direction of mine pit boss Jack Marconi and mine superintendent Martin Aschacher, had the two locomotives ready to be towed out of the mine during the morning. Mine mechanic Leon Purdy of Bellevue, driving another diesel, towed the recovered units out of the mine where they will be cleaned out and checked over for necessary repairs.

Damage to the diesels is not believed to be extensive. The equipment was buried under tons of muck and rubble on February 17th, when an underground lake broke through its bottom and flooded over a mile of the mine's main entry.

One mine worker, 27-year-old Timothy Span of Coleman, lost his life in the mishap and thousands of dollars of damage resulted from the incident.

Workmen have now opened a passage via the entry to the coal face of the mine which is between 60 and 61 chute, a distance of approximately 7600 feet. There is still a great deal of clean-up to be done and damage to repair but it is hoped that normal operations will resume by the end of next week.

Failure is the line of least persistence.

Horace Allen High School Prom Successful

The annual Horace Allen High School Prom and Banquet was held on May 14th. Well over 125 students, their parents and guests enjoyed a sumptuous banquet in the Elks hall, served by the Royal Purple Lodge.

After singing O Canada, Chairman Gerry Perina called on Miss Cathy Kilgannon to say Grace, after which a toast was proposed to the Queen by Stuart Root.

Miss Donna Rypien proposed a toast to the staff which was ably responded to by Principal Horace Allen, who congratulated the graduating class for the fine work they had done during their school years.

Miss Marisa Cozzi proposed a toast to the School Board, to which Board Chairman John Salus ably responded. Stuart Murdoch, on behalf of the parents ably responded to son Ken's toast to the parents, after which class Valedictorian Marilyn Liddell gave an inspiring talk.

Guest speaker for the occasion was C. B. Johnson, M.A., principal of the Lethbridge Junior College, who, in addressing the graduating class, gave a lengthy and interesting talk on the need for students to further their education to meet the needs of today's living.

Colin Collier thanked the speaker for his much appreciated talk.

The event concluded after Randy Fabro thanked the O.R.P. for the excellent banquet. All retired to the school auditorium, where a program of entertainment was held. For the occasion the hall was gaily decorated in a Venice motif.

The program, directed by Brian Advertising...

Modern advertising is a necessity to hold and build business. Be proud of your business, of the goods you have to sell, of the services you have to offer in your particular line. Show the progressive spirit and the desire to serve by advertising. Do not hide your light under a bushel — proclaim far and wide who you are and what you have to sell and where your place of business is, for public memory is short, and advertising is a powerful aid to all types of businesses. Moreover, people as a general rule shop where they are invited.

Nearer Than We Know To a Second Language

Think you know your French?

A world-famous airline, in a recent publicity release, has compiled this imposing list of expressions and words, to show how much French we know without stopping to think of it.

You may not realize it, but many of our most frequently used everyday expressions are borrowed from the French. Almost daily you encounter words that are either French or of French derivation.

If you're a belle with a beau, you may hope to become a fiancée. If your coiffure (hair-do) gets all messed up, for example, you go to a beauty salon; and if you're one of the elite, you may have your clothes made by a fashionable couturier, or designer-dressmaker.

Every day you walk or ride along avenues and boulevards. Occasionally you rendezvous with friends. You sometimes say of a person that he or she has savoir-faire. Experts claim that there isn't a word in the English language which describes that particular quality quite so well.

Ever have a tête-à-tête (literally head-to-head) with someone? — That's another expression we've borrowed, meaning conversation, which is also derived from a French word.

Taking a trip. Pilot, aviation, aileron and fuselage are all from the French. If you're taking a long flight out of the country, you'll want to look for an airline with a little joie de vivre to be certain that you have a bon voyage.

The words comfort, service and reliability also derive from the French.

Going to a country or state fair this year? The words fair and exposition are also taken from the French. Or perhaps this summer you visited the pavilions at the New York World's Fair.

If you're a successful entrepreneur, you may have carte blanche (literally, a white or blank card), and a car driven by a chauffeur. If you've not, that's life — or "C'est la vie", as they say in French.

Believe it or not, you're daily newspaper is full of French words. Coup d'état, saboteur, espionage, and laissez-faire are just a few of the terms you encounter there.

Military terminology taken from French includes general, lieutenant, corporal and side-de-camp.

And, of course, planes make reconnaissance flights over enemy territory.

One of the major areas in which the English language has borrowed heavily from the French is in cooking and dining. But that's only natural, since when we think of haute cuisine, we think immediately of la belle France.

Our word repast comes from the French repas. When you serve hors d'oeuvre (something aside from the main work or meal) to your friends you make tempting canapes. Perhaps you enjoy an aperitif before a meal, and in your kitchen you may have a rôtisserie.

In recipes you're apt to encounter such French words as sauté, flambe, (a flame with cognac, rum, etc.) and a purée. When you eat in a restaurant, another French word that we depend on heavily, you may order a la carte. Today, dining royally is not confined to the home or restaurant. You sample authentic haute cuisine in the air, thanks to Air France.

A typical flight menu might begin with consommé.

The entrée might be a soufflé or a piece of resistance (main 'event' of the meal) such as coq au vin (chicken in wine), chateaubriand (steak), or canotier (duckling). And for dessert perhaps jelly tarts, parfait or bombe glacée. Enough to make any gourmet's mouth water.

Water lawns lightly, often

Home-owners wanting to keep their lawns at the peak of condition throughout the season should water them lightly and often.

This is the advice of R. H. Turley of the federal experimental farm at Saanichton, B. C., where lawn watering procedures have been under study.

Frequent applications of a half-inch of water gave better results than fewer and heavier waterings because they maintained a higher and more uniform moisture level in the shallow rooting zone, the researcher explains.

At Saanichton, waterings were based on a soil moisture "budget" determined by atomometers — devices for measuring evaporation.

Water was applied when test plots had moisture losses of a half inch, three-quarter inch, one inch and one and a quarter inches. All plots, however, received the same amount of water for the season.

Mr. Turley supports his advice with some statistics gleaned from two seasons of tests.

On heavy clay soil, the various levels of application produced the following average percentages of soil moisture: half inch 17.8; three-quarter inch 15.7; one inch 13.5; one and one-quarter inches 12.8.

On light sandy soil the percentages were: 12.4, 9.5, 8.5 and 8.1 in the same order.

What IS happiness, anyway? — Will it buy money? Probably most of us want to be happy, but many of us just don't know how. The famous Dr. William Menninger has given us his formula, and it is available to you free, from the Canadian Mental Health Association. Write today — ask for "Seven Keys to a Happy Life". The address is the Canadian Mental Health Association, 618 Revillon Building, Edmonton.

tv TALK

VIEWING HIGHLIGHTS FOR THE COMING WEEK

MAY 22 - 28

CBC-TV viewers across Canada will have an opportunity Saturday to see the talk of the baseball business, Houston's magnificent new Astrodome. The $34,000,000 enclosed, air-conditioned stadium will be the site of the Major League Championship Baseball game between the San Francisco Giants and the Houston Astros.

The Astros, perhaps spurred by their "Taj Mahal of Baseball", and undoubtedly led by the surprising performance of unbeaten rookie pitcher Dave Giusti, are making noises like a contender and could at last battle for a first division berth this year. The Giants have had Mays and Marichal performing brilliantly, but their supporting cast doing almost nothing. The call to "Play Ball" will be heard at 1 p.m. in Manitoba; 12 noon in Saskatchewan and 11 a.m. in Alberta.

A radio highlight for the week will be the blow-by-blow account of the Cassius Clay - Sonny Liston Championship fight live from Lewiston, Maine, on Tuesday night, May 25th. Clay, the loquacious and colorful young champion, will defend his title for the first time against the big, rugged ex-champion Liston, from whom Clay won the title in a weird fight at Miami in February, 1964. Clay has won all 20 of his professional battles; Liston's record is 35 wins and two losses.

Don Dunphy will describe the action for CBC radio listeners, while Ward Cornell and Bob McDewitt will be on hand with color commentary.

No home television coverage of this fight will be allowed because of the promoter's closed circuit theatre television deal.

The fight broadcast begins at 9:05 p.m. in Manitoba; 8:06 p.m. in Saskatchewan and 7:06 p.m. in Alberta.

The Great Movie, Saturday, May 22nd is an English production with the intriguing title "Loneliness of the Long Distance Runner". The film to be seen at 8:30 p.m., stars Tom Courtenay, Avis Bunnage, Peter Madden and Michael Redgrave. It is the story of a relationship between the Governor of a correctional institution in Britain and the anti-hero figure of a young delinquent. Each man, true to his particular side, represents one of the opposing poles in Britain's contemporary social structure.

The separatist problem in Quebec provides the setting for a drama entitled "Masters In Our Own House" on the Show of the Week, Monday, May 24 at 8 p.m.

In a prosperous section of Montreal two French-Canadian families are celebrating the marriage of their respective sons and daughter, while unknown to them a seriously wounded young separatist hides in an upstairs room after killing a policeman. Amelia Hall, Robert Goodier and Marc Stranle star in the drama by Phillip Hersach to be produced by Leo Orenstein.

The sensibilities of proud Canadians may be insulted by Wyndham Lewis in his views of Canada as expressed on Other Voices, on Tuesday, May 25th at 10:30 p.m. Lewis was an English writer and painter who emigrated to Canada during the Second World War and settled in Toronto. His scathing opinions of Canada recently received widespread publicity due to posthumous publication of letters he wrote while in Canada.

A Perry Como Special brightens the bill of fare Thursday, May 27 at 10 p.m. in a variety format live from Chicago. Perry plays host to guests Richard Chamberlain, Diana Carroll and the New Christy Minstrels.

Canada Theatre

Documentary film promotion has been carried on in South Alberta for 22 years by the National Film Board. A thousand-film Pool has grown up, with outlets and patterns of circulation established.

Ten senior communities and 15 smaller ones have been involved, with films revolving through the Lebridge Public Library, the Medicine Hat Public Library and the Film Pool Federation.

New films have been added yearly and old ones removed. Schools have used them, churches and other groups; individuals, too, for informative home movies. Childrens shows have been run, particularly at Christmas time and the latest trend in libraries is the Children's Film Service with a shelf for juniors. In short, films of every interest have come to be an established part of community services everywhere.

Theatres and Television are regular users of Canadian documentaries which have repeatedly won prizes around the world. Some recent winners include the theatrical feature Nobody Waved Goodbye, recently premiered on Broadway and enthusiastically received by New York audiences. The heroic story of Bethune, a great Canadian doctor revered by the Chinese, was recently aired in the NFB Presents Series on television.

Cornet At Night is a heart-warming film of childhood and The Hutterites is a sympathetic presentation of these oft-maligned fellow citizens of ours who wish only their fundamental freedom to live and worship as they believe right.

Enduring Wilderness is a conservation subject of significance, and Edge of the Barrens presents our northern tree line: two fine natural history subjects.

Have you ever said "I just can't understand Jimmie" or Tommy, or Mary, or Shirley? There is a free pamphlet available from the Mental Health Association that might help you to understand your children better. It's called "Chart of Child Needs". Write today to CMHA 618 Reville Building, Edmonton.

Report From Parliament Hill

(Lawrence E. Kind, M.P.)

Senate Reform—

The question of Senate Reform is again before Parliament this week, and in essence the government's proposal is that Senators who are to be appointed in the future must retire (with a pension) at the age of 75. This would certainly seem to be a step in the right direction, although perhaps not a very large step.

The debate on this legislation has been, in some ways, one of the most interesting I have heard for a long time, since a great many MP's on all sides of the House made a great many very thoughtful and constructive suggestions, e.g., It was pointed out that perhaps some members of the Senate should be appointed by the provincial governments, thus enabling regional political parties (Social Credit) to have some representation in that body.

Another outstanding suggestion was that the government should appoint more Cabinet Ministers from the Senate. The effect of this suggestion would be to gain some of the advantages that the American Cabinet system has over the present Canadian system. In other words, the government in power could appoint one or two very outstanding Canadians to the Senate and then take them into the Cabinet. The present Cabinet, is of course, almost completely chosen from elected MP's on the government side of the House, and since each province must be represented in the Cabinet, the present choice of Cabinet Ministers is extremely limited. In this regard a precedent was set by the former Prime Minister (Mr. Diefenbaker) when he appointed Mr. Wallace McOutcheon to the Senate and then made him Minister of Trade and Commerce; as everyone knows, Mr. McOutcheon is probably one of the two or three ablest businessmen in Canada.

The Prime Minister seemed interested in this suggestion, and it is to be hoped that he will follow it up.

The rewards of virtue

(Kamloops Sentinel)

Virtue is its own reward, an ancient saying runs—but it is seemingly, not necessarily the only reward.

One night recently, as The Washington Star tells the story, two Negro youths were standing on a northwest corner in Washington. They saw a gang of younger teenagers snatch a purse from a 70-year-old woman.

They may have briefly nursed misgivings, or asked each other: "Why not mind our own business and keep out of trouble?"

But the instinct of helpfulness was too strong. The woman took off in pursuit, collared the purse-snatcher, and, after a scrap with the gang, turned the culprit—and the purse—over to the police.

There the matter might have ended.

But it didn't.

The police commended the two 18-year-olds, Erskine Gregory and Francis Wells.

An anonymous donor sent them $50.00.

School Supt. Hansen sent his compliments with apt notation that "the good things young people perform are too seldom noticed".

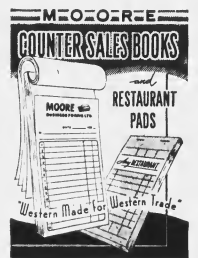

A few nights later, at the Garnet-Patterson School more than 100 people turned out to honor the boys. And to cap the climax, Lt. Tilmont O'Bryant of the Second Precinct found them jobs.

Maybe there is no moral of great significance to the story. But for these two youths, at least, the decision to do the right thing may have been a turning point in their lives.

At least they have the opportunity to make it so.

At 60 miles an hour with good brakes and dry pavement, it is difficult to stop, allowing for reaction time, in much less than the length of a football field.

Never get mad at somebody who knows more than you do. After all, it isn't his fault.

Appealing Bungalow Design Caters to Busy Housewife

Architect M. G. Dixon, of Ottawa, gave sympathetic consideration to the busy housewife when he designed this three-bedroom bungalow. He has concentrated his efforts in providing a well-arranged kitchen and work area in the house.

A handy dining nook and ample cupboard and shelf space are features of the kitchen. The convenient side service entrance, with vestibule and coat closet, as well as a second access to the bathroom will save the housewife many steps in looking after the needs of small children. Another highlight of the plan is the large combined living dining room with its long unbroken wall to facilitate the placing of furniture.

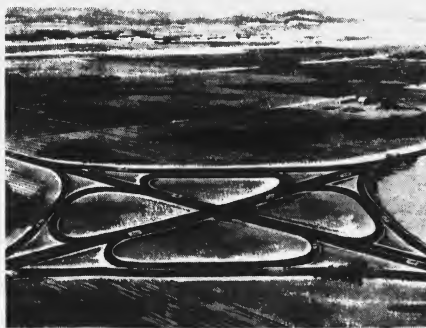

The total floor area is 1,295 square feet and the exterior dimensions are 41 feet by 30 feet. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 269, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

"There must be a better way to build a highway."

Build the highway for safety - first! Highways with safety factors built-in offer several advantages to roads constructed with an eye solely to convenience and economy. Safety factors such as limited access roads and cloverleaf intersections eliminate one of the major hazards leading to accidents and loss of life. Where access to a highway is limited, through traffic flows easier, faster.

Constructing a highway with every known safety-factor built-in is expensive in money, but the saving in life and injuries is worth every penny. The inconvenience caused to local traffic by limiting access roads is a small price to pay for the additional peace-of-mind.

"In Alberta there is!"

Alberta's Department of Highways has built 26 clover-leaf interchanges and four are now under construction. Six more are planned for the near future. Elimination of at-grade crossings is part of Alberta's policy for building better, safer roads.

Alberta motorists are among the least taxed in Canada, and yet they enjoy almost 100,000 miles of better road travel facilities - more than almost any other group of Canadians.

Good, safe highways - another feature that makes Alberta A Good Place to Live.

C.A.R.S. Offers Bursary For Fourth Year In Row

Since 1962, the Alberta Division of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society has offered three Annual Bursaries to deserving graduates of Grade 12.

The purpose of the Bursary project is to stimulate interest among young people (both boys and girls are eligible) to enter the field of Physical Therapy. There is a world wide shortage of University trained para-medical personnel in this profession.

The Medical Advisory committee of the Society is investigating the possibility of revising the awards from $350 to $500 each on a loan basis, not repayable should the successful applicant agree to be employed by the Society for a period of two years after graduation from university.

Further particulars and application forms are available from the Society's Division office, Ste. 339, 805 - 5th St. S. W., in Calgary.

The deadline for applications is July 15th each year and these are invited from residents within the province of Alberta and the North West Territories.

Parents who are afraid to put their foot down usually have children who step on their toes.

NEW APPOINTMENT G. D. "Bud" SALLOUM

The Provincial Secretary, the Hon. Ambrose Holowach, has announced the appointment of G. D. "Bud" Salloum, as Centennial Officer for the province of Alberta.

Mr. Salloum was born and educated in Saskatchewan. He has been employed for the past five years by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, first as Division Secretary, and during the past two and a half years as Membership Director. He is a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce having held offices at the local, provincial and national level, and is currently serving as Chairman of the Alberta Jaycee Senate and as the Alberta representative on the National Jaycee Centennial Committee. He is also past chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the West Edmonton YMCA.

Mr. Salloum's duties will be to assist various municipalities in the northern part of the province with the preparation and forwarding of applications for Centennial Grants, and to provide liaison between Centennial organizations throughout the province and the provincial government. When required, he will visit municipalities to assist the local Centennial organizations, which, in view of the fact that all applications for approval of projects must be received on or before December 31, 1965, have no doubt already been established. Similar assistance to municipalities in the areas south of Edmonton is being given by Centennial Officer E. H. "Ted" Abell.

Youngsters can learn responsibility

Demand for services does not seem at the moment to be diminishing; employment in the service industries where people work for pay is on the increase according to labor statistics, and it is suspected that there are always jobs left unfilled in those areas where people work for love.

In a hospital in a small city young volunteers (female), dressed in pink and white and known as candy strikers, are developing a sense of community responsibility and making a contribution of time and effort. There is no comparable boys' group, although in that hospital the snack bar, for instance, depends on volunteer help and there is no reason why boys could not take their turn in its staffing.

Some months back it was reported that boys in one neighborhood had become a "troublesome element". There was a meeting with municipal authorities at which the boys were invited to voice their complaints. And their complaints were distilled into that age-old cry of youth: "There's nothing for us to do".

It is not likely that the solution will be to build million-dollar recreation centres on all the corners where the pool halls used to be, although this is not to imply that such centres are not beneficial. There is nothing wrong in recreation, of which everyone needs a certain amount.

A long time ago, however, civilized societies discovered that there is greater merit in doing things for others. Humanity will be the loser if the world ever reaches that point of over-organization where everything is paid for and where even the charitable impulse is satisfied by making a cash donation. There should be left a place for service.

The boys should have a part in it. They don't need to wait until they are old enough to be Rotarians, Lions, Kiwanis, Eagles or Moose.

Members who say they are too busy to attend meetings are like the man who was so busy chopping wood he never had time to sharpen his axe.

batter chatter

BY Mary Lynn Woods

"Breakfast's ready!" Doctors agree that breakfast is the most important meal of the day, especially in winter, so send your children off to school well fed. Orange juice, scrambled eggs and bacon, hot chocolate, and some of mom's home-made muffins will keep them full of vim and vigour until lunch time.

Are you a good muffin maker, or does your hatch always turn out coarse and dry? The secret of muffin making is in the mixing. Keep it to an absolute minimum—a light stirring for 10 to 20 seconds and positively no longer. There will be lumps in the dough, but don't worry. If you beat the batter too long, the dough becomes tough, producing a coarse muffin full of lumps. Bake for 20 minutes in a preheated oven at 400 F. Remember, too slow an oven will cause muffins to sink in the middle, too high will give them cracked, wobbly tops. Happy baking!

Instant coffee is very useful as a flavouring. Blend a teaspoon of it into a pint of slightly softened vanilla ice cream, then refreeze. You now have delicious mocha ice cream ready to serve. If you add three tablespoons of instant coffee to the liquid ingredients when making a white cake, you will have the cake richly flavoured with the popular coffee taste.

Baking bread gives a feeling of joy and deep satisfaction to the truly creative cook. The feel of the springy, elastic dough beneath her fingers, the tempting aroma of a newly baked batch of golden crusted loaves—these are the pleasures reserved for the woman who bakes her own bread. And when she bakes, she knows she can rely on Fleischmann's Fast Rising Active Dry Yeast—the most favoured yeast for generations. Fleischmann's yeast stays fresh and active, gives the housewife who bakes successful results—every time. It's no wonder she wouldn't rely on anything else.

To keep your home baked bread fresh for as long as possible, wrap it in moisture-vapour-proof material and store it in the freezer. It will remain fresh and moist for several weeks. Reheating bread kept for several days also freshens it. Sesame seeds added to the bread crumb coating of chicken cutlets produce a delightful nut-like flavour that wins compliments for the cook. They give the same exciting fillip in the bread crumb topping for casseroles as well.

Enriched bread forms the basis of many a delicious dessert and this recipe for bread doughnuts is a tasty example. You will need two eggs, one cup of milk, one teaspoon of grated orange rind, one half cup of fine cracker crumbs, twelve slices of enriched white bread and three tablespoons of butter. Beat the eggs, milk and grated orange rind together, place the cracker crumbs in a large plate, then cut the enriched white bread slices with a doughnut cutter. Dip the bread circles in the milk mixture and then in the cracker crumbs. No, melt the butter in a skillet and pan fry the dipped bread circles over a medium, low heat...like French toast. Serve them with syrup, jam, jelly or preserves, or sprinkle them with brown sugar.

Traffic Accidents In Month Of April

During the month of April there were a total of 126 traffic accidents which resulted in 41 persons being injured. This covers the area known as Southern Alberta.

There were no fatalities but the estimated property damage came to $21,997.00. As a rule there is a lull during April in traffic accidents, possibly because cautions used in winter driving are still being maintained, along with the fact that the summer traffic volume has not yet arrived. However, this no indication that our accident rate has decreased. There are still damaged vehicles and injured persons that have to endure hardship and suffering.

The Canadian Highway Safety Council have again proclaimed their check your vehicle program for the month of May. This is the month of change, including weather, so will naturally remind car owners to check their equipment, such as rear view mirrors, horn, windshield wipers, lights, turn signals, tires, steering, brakes and exhaust system. With this equipment working properly, it should result in a safer vehicle and a real credit to the driver.

We have safe highways, so with safer vehicles it only remains for drivers to realize and accept their responsibility for the safety on our highways.

Month of April—

Fatal accidents, nil. Injury accidents, 21. Property damage, 63 for a total of 84.

Persons injured, 4. Prosecutions from accidents, 20. Property damage estimate, $21,997.00.
